CITY REPUBLICAN TICKET

Election, Tuesday, April 2, 1912.

For Mayor:
FRANK R. MOORE.For Chief of Police:
HARRY L. BROOKS.For City Clerk:
WILL L. COLE.For Street Superintendent:
EDWARD J. DOYLE.For Member Water Works Board:
WILLIAM H. LEWIS.For Assessor:
LYDA M. BIRD.For Collector and Treasurer:
JOHN M. KNOX.For School Commissioner:
ARTHUR K. THORN.For Council:
First ward—JOHN F. KEARNS.

Second ward—BENJAMIN F. THOMPSON.

Third ward—J. TRUMAN SWAGER.

Fourth ward—MARK HARKNESS.

Fifth ward—LUCIUS HOGE, Jr.

Samuel B. Montgomery, of Kingwood, announces that he will not be a candidate for congressman-at-large.

If Governor Glascock is not careful, he may get the same message from Colonel Roosevelt that Professor Woodrow Wilson sent Colonel Harvey, which read something like this: "Quit, you are hurting my candidacy."

There would be justification in lynching the men who murdered the judge, prosecuting attorney and sheriff in court at Hillsville, Va., yesterday. Men who have no more regard for law and its administration than they do not deserve the privileges the law and society give.

Governor Glascock undertakes a pretty big task when he agrees to deliver the solid delegation of sixteen votes from West Virginia to Colonel Roosevelt or any other person for that matter. It is all right for him to deliver the straw vote to Colonel Roosevelt or any other person if he so desires; but the 140,000 Republican voters in the state will have something to say when the time comes to send a delegation to the Chicago convention, and the governor will find this out later, if he does not know it now.

Anachronisms.

A good deal of nonsense like the following has been published in the Morgantown Post-Chronicle:

"In the campaign of 1908 the most active supporters of Judge Taft were such men as Cummins of Iowa, Brewster of Kansas, Norris of Nebraska, and Garfield of Ohio. Today those men are supporting the renomination of Roosevelt because Taft failed to carry out those progressive Roosevelt policies to which he was pledged."

The Telegram has been under the impression that Senator Cummins, of Iowa, is an avowed candidate himself for the presidential nomination. This, however, is not pertinent to what the Telegram has to say further than to show that the Post-Chronicle is willing to twist almost everything its way in an effort to bear out its arguments.

The statement that President Taft has failed to carry out "those progressive policies to which he was pledged" is not borne out by the record. President Taft has carried out the pledges of the last Republican national convention as far as he has been able and if he had not been handicapped by an obstructive Democratic majority in the House of Representatives the last half of his term, all the pledges would have been fulfilled and many more constructive measures would have been added to the list of Taft achievements. A tariff revision was promised and a new tariff bill was passed. The new bill was not absolutely satisfactory and further measures for a scientific revision of the tariff were enacted but nullified by the Democrats. A postal savings bank law was promised and enacted. Statehood bills were promised and passed. Natural resources have been conserved. Amendments to the railroad laws were provided, trust prosecutions were vigorously pressed and so on through the list. Pledges were kept as far as it was possible to keep them. It is unnecessary to repeat here the list of achievements credited to the Taft administration, as the people well know them.

The peculiar feature of the assertion made by the Post-Chronicle is that Colonel Roosevelt is not now basing his campaign upon the policies that were in vogue at the beginning of the Taft administration, but has cast his lot chiefly with the experimental doctrines of the initiative, referendum and recall. It is incongruous and silly, indeed, to assert that President Taft is not carrying out these policies, because they were adopted by Colonel Roosevelt only recently and at the beginning of the Taft administration he was denouncing them.

Let us have a little more common sense in regard to reports of these Roosevelt policies the Post-Chronicle and others of its ilk harp about. They are trying to perpetrate anachronisms upon the public.

Roosevelt Not a Lincoln.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt may honestly regard himself a second Abraham Lincoln, but it is a well established fact that his late theories of government were never those of the martyred president of Civil war times. Colonel Roosevelt can not justify his present candidacy for the presidential nomination on the ground that Lincoln held the Roosevelt radicalism displayed by the colonel in his sensational Columbus speech. Were Lincoln alive today having the same views as when he was waging his campaign with Douglass his rival, he would hoot at the colonel's likening himself to Lincoln.

If Roosevelt actually knew the views of Lincoln, he would scarcely have likened himself to the martyred president, unless he labored under the belief that what he said would pass without question. But such has not happened and articles are now appearing innumerable in the city press refuting Roosevelt's notion of his being a second Lincoln. These articles prove the fallacy of the Roosevelt declaration by citations from Lincoln's public declaration and mention of his public acts which establish conclusively the egregious error of the Roosevelt assertion. For instance the following written to the Washington Post by William P. Kellogg shows the untenable position of Colonel Roosevelt on the subject:

This morning's Post contains a somewhat elaborate justification and defense of the recent demand for primaries by the apostle of the doctrine of new nationalism, or the charter of democracy.

In this most recent outgiving, like others heretofore emanating from the same source, frequent reference is made to Mr. Lincoln, and to his disinterested and unselfish love for the people. If one will read the public speeches of Mr. Lincoln in 1858, including the joint debates between himself and Mr. Douglas, they will see how Mr. Lincoln respected the courts and their decisions, even though he radically disagreed with them.

In a speech to young men, January 27, 1858, Mr. Lincoln said: "Ambitious men will spring up who will find no gratification in supporting and maintaining an edifice that has been erected by others. Towering genius disdains a beaten path. It seeks to tread in the footsteps of no predecessor, however illustrious. It thrusts and burns for distinction, and if possible, it will have it."

"When such a man appears it will require the people to be united with each other, attached to government and laws and generally intelligent, to successfully frustrate his designs."

"Distinction will be his paramount object, and although he will be willingly—perhaps more so—acquire it by doing good as harm; yet that opportunity being present, and nothing left to be done in the way of building up, he would set boldly to the task of pulling down."

Business Men's Ticket.

Besides being Republican the city ticket headed by Frank R. Moore is one that well may be called a business men's ticket. The personnel of the ticket appeals strongly and effectively to voters throughout the city in that respect.

First, the ward conventions carefully selected men actively identified with the business interests of Clarksburg, representing several of the substantial lines of activity, for which Clarksburg is noted. John F. Kearns, the First ward nominee for council, is engaged successfully in business, and he possesses qualifications which appeal to voters who want a good business administration of city affairs. He served several years in the city council to the complete satisfaction of his ward in particular and the city in general.

Benjamin F. Thompson, the nominee in the Second ward, is not only a business man but also a professional man, a successful lawyer, who has served his ward well and faithfully in the city council the last two years, obtaining a goodly share of improvements in that time for his ward. His experience stands him well in hand. He has been tried and found true and capable. His reelection will mean that the ward desires no experiment.

Several years ago Truman Swager, nominee in the Third ward for city council, served in that body, when he took an active part in the foundation of the present development of the city's affairs. He was regarded a good councilman. He has been successful in the mercantile business and his association with Clarksburg's business interests has been beneficial to the development of the city. There will be no experiment in his case in the council.

Mark Harkness, the Fourth ward nominee, is engaged in the oil business, which has been and is a great factor in the progress of the city as well as the entire county. He is a business man of true worth and Clarksburg is the better for his citizenship. The opposition may advance the averment that the Democratic nominee there has had experience in the city council, but when the fruits of the latter's labors for his ward are particularly pointed out, a somewhat barren harvest is seen. Mr. Harkness merits election in his ward and his candidacy appeals generally very strongly there.

Lucius Hoge, Jr., who will be a councilman for the Fifth ward the next two years, is well and favorably known by every voter in his ward, in which he has been in the furniture business a number of years as the head of the Home Furnishing Company. Even all the children in that ward know him and every resident of the ward likes him. Possibly, no man in recent years has gone before the voters of the ward more popular than he. But his popularity is not his strongest element of strength. He is a successful business man, broad-minded, astute and with judgment sound. There is not a more patriotic man in Clarksburg than Lucius Hoge, Jr., and none more ready to contribute liberally to the upbuilding of the city. Civic pride is one of his dominant possessions.

The general ticket is largely comprised of men who have been tried and not found wanting. Their official course has been of such high character and efficiency that the expression is general that they are the best Clarksburg ever had. Nominated with the heartiest approval of a great majority of the voters of Clarksburg, their triumph at the polls April 2 will doubtless be the greatest within the history of the city.

NEW DISCOVERY

Wells & Haymaker Secures the Agency for Begy's Mustarine in Clarksburg.

People who know the value of the good old mustard plaster for pains in any part of the body, will be glad to know of the new discovery called Mustarine.

One 25 cent box of Begy's Mustarine will relieve more pain than forty dirty mustard plasters.

Just rub it on, that's all, you don't have to make a plaster; it's all so simple and so easy, that no one will again be bothered with the old disagreeable mustard plasters.

If you catch cold, have pains in the chest or back, just rub on Begy's Mustarine and the pain will vanish without abnormal heat and without blistering.

Drives away headache, toothache, earache in a few minutes, chases away the pains of bronchitis, pleurisy, incipient pneumonia and deep-seated coughs.

It's very clean and nice to use, and is always ready. Try a 25 cent box. Sold on money back plan by Wells & Haymaker. Mail orders filled by J. A. Begy Co., Rochester, N. Y. (1)

QUIT CALOMEL

Thousands Are Turning from This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute is Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Portsmouth, Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver tonic in a combination of vegetable materials, mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects of calomel.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago to experiment with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-oil colored tablet.

The results of fifteen years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

"Every Little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own."

The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O., Dr. F. M. Edwards, president.

Perhaps the "owner and manager" of dollars enough to make your plan WORK would consider it very lucky for him if you advertised your willingness to accept such co-operation.
